World Pac Paper Named to Top Inner City Co. List

Cincinnati-based, World Pac Paper has earned a position as one of the fastest-growing inner city companies in the U.S. by the Initiative for a Competitive Inner City (ICIC) and Fortune magazine. It was ranked No. 78. The Inner City 100 program recognizes successful inner city companies and their ceos as role models for entrepreneurship, innovative business practices, and job creation in America's urban communities.

"We are delighted to celebrate businesses like World Pac Paper that are playing a critical role in revitalizing communities across the country," says Mary Kay Leonard, ICIC president and ceo. "Through their achievements, the Inner City 100 winners exemplify America's remarkable potential and the future of our urban centers."

World Pac Paper, a distributor of printing and packaging papers with customers in the corrugated packaging and folding carton markets, is proud of the honor.

"Being a part of the Inner City 100 provides us with a national platform from which we are able to connect with some of the most prolific minds in business strategies," says Edgar Smith Jr., ceo of World Pac Paper.
